SCENARIO QUESTIONS

HOUSING CASE MANAGER

Definition of the Housing Case Management Program:

The program provides housing support for those individuals requiring housing support in the community. The goal of the Housing Case Management Program is to support individuals with maintaining and sustaining their housing, thereby reducing the risk of homelessness. The program provides individual support for 3-4 months in the person's living environment and provides linkages/ navigation to community resources.

Please answer the following questions:

1. CMHA services are offered through a Psychosocial Rehabilitation (PSR) approach. An integral part of rehabilitation is building a relationship with the individual receiving services. Please describe how you would establish a relationship and engage with individuals using PSR.

SCENARIO QUESTIONS

- Please reflect on a time when you were working as part of a team and integrating the work of others was important. Describe what your role was and why it was important to integrate others' work. What were some of the learnings or outcomes of the experience?
- Pat Deegan describes how to support clients and their choice. She references the Supporting Client Choice Continuum that identifies a way to help people while responding in a way that supports recovery (recovery-oriented). Please describe your understanding of this approach. Please give a specific example (real or imagined) that illustrates a decision made that has taken into account this continuum.
